

Verse from John Beck:

My questions are coming to life.

My actions are becoming more consequential.

My life is becoming a real life.

I feel my reasons for being, and my purpose awakens in me.

I feel my inspiration, and a star that seemed so far away starts to shine down to me.

I feel my aspirations, and firm intentions form in me.

My living experiences and this world are a unity.

From the life around me Light shines out to enlighten me.

Challenges grow stronger on my path, to match my growing strength.

Growing inside me now is a treasure that I can take with me always.