Taught with clarity and integrity, Jennifer Goodman and Laura Embrey bring a unique and powerful approach to personal transformation and soul development based on Steiner's model of the seven soul styles, or planetary forces. This course brings us into alignment with the gifts from the archetypes of the planetary spheres, through illuminating talks and discussion, artistic activity, and, most significantly, through Laura's form drawings, which support our efforts to draw on the strengthening characteristics of each style. Participants have found this to be a valuable self-development path, bringing more consciousness and flexibility within themselves, along with a deeper connection with others.
